MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS

New Delhi, the 1st January 1964

G.S.R. 43.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) of Section 3 of the All India Services Act, 1951, (61 of 1951), the Central Government, after consultation with the Governments of the States concerned, hereby makes the following amendments in the All India Services (Provident Fund) Rules, 1955, namely:—

1. These Rules may be called the All India Services (Provident Fund) Amendment Rules, 1964.

2. In the All India Services (Provident Fund) Rules, 1955—

(1) In rule 28,—

(i) in clause (1) of the first proviso, for the words “three years”, the words “five years” shall be substituted; and

(ii) the following words shall be added at the end, namely:—

“A subscriber who had exercised the option under this clause before the 31st December, 1963, to retain the amount at his credit in the Fund on the date of retirement for a period of three years shall be permitted to retain that amount in the Fund for a further period of two years from the date of expiry of the said period of three years."

(2) For rule 28-A, the following rule shall be substituted, namely:—

"28-A. Procedure for withdrawal where accumulations in the Fund are permitted to be retained after retirement.—(1) During the period of five years referred to in clause (i) of the first proviso to rule 28, withdrawals, for which no reason need be specified, of an amount not exceeding one-fifth of the amount standing to the credit of the subscriber at the time of his retirement, shall be permitted once a year, the final withdrawal being permitted at the end of five year period.

(2) If a subscriber does not make a withdrawal in any year under sub-rule (1), he shall be permitted to withdraw in any subsequent year the amount which he could have withdrawn in the previous year together with such amount as he is permitted to withdraw under sub-rule (1) in such subsequent year.

(3) Nothing in sub-rules (1) and (2) shall apply to any withdrawal from the Fund made before the commencement of the All India Services (Provident Fund) Amendment Rules, 1964.

(4) As from the date of commencement of the All India Services (Provident Fund) Amendment Rules, 1964, withdrawals from out of the balance of the amount standing to the credit of a subscriber who had exercised, before the 31st December, 1963, the option to retain the amount at his credit in the Fund on the date of retirement for a period of three years and who has been permitted to retain such amount in the Fund for a further period of two years, shall be regulated, as far as practicable, in accordance with the provisions of sub-rules (1) and (2).

[No. F. 6/1/63-AIS(II)-A.]

MINISTRY OF WORKS, HOUSING AND REHABILITATION*(Department of W. & H.)(Central Boilers Board)New Delhi, the 23rd December 1963

G.S.R. 61.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 28 of the Indian Boilers Act, 1923 (5 of 1923), the Central Boilers Board hereby makes the following Regulations further to amend the Indian Boiler Regulations, 1950, the same having been previously published as required by sub-section (1) of section 31 of the said Act, namely:—

1. These Regulations may be called the Indian Boiler (Twentyfourth Amendment) Regulations, 1962.

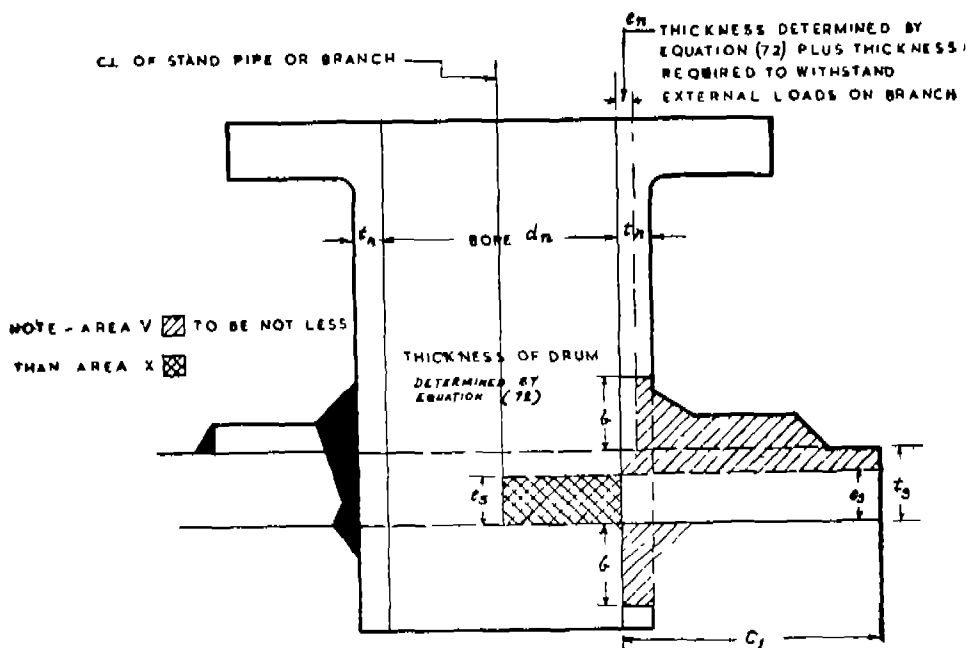

2. In the Indian Boiler Regulations, 1950,

(a) for the existing heading above Regulation 279, the following shall be substituted, namely:

• "STANDPIPES AND NOZZLES",

(b) for the existing Regulation 279, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"279. (a) Standpipes and nozzles welded to shell.—Where standpipes or nozzles are secured by welding, adequate compensation for the hole cut shall be provided. Compensation shall be considered adequate when the sectional area 'X' to be compensated measured through the axis of the shell is less than the compensating area 'Y' given in Figure 25-B.

FIG. 25- B COMPENSATION FOR WELDED STANDPIPES.

Sectional area  $X = \frac{d}{n} \times \frac{e}{s}$

$$\text{Sectional area } Y = 2 \left( \frac{b}{n} - e \right) \frac{f}{f_s} + 2t \frac{x}{n} \times \frac{f}{f_s} + 2 \left( \frac{t}{s} - \frac{e}{s} \right) C_1 + CW$$

Where

$d$
 $n$  = internal diameter of the standpipe or nozzle.

$t$
 $s$  = actual thickness of shell.

$t$
 $n$  = actual thickness of standpipe or nozzle.

$e$
 $s$  = equivalent thickness of shell i.e. thickness of a seamless shell of similar material pierced by tube holes and is designed for the same conditions of pressure and temperature as the shell in question.

$c$
 $n$  = equivalent thickness of the standpipe calculated similarly as for  $e$ , plus any thickness if required to withstand any external load on the standpipe or nozzle.

$b$  = the least of the values of
2.5 times  $t$ , 2.5 times  $t_n$ or if the length of the standpipe or nozzle outside or inside the shell is less than this value, 'b' shall be limited to the actual length in each case.

$C$
 $w$  = The aggregate cross sectional area of the weld fillets.

$C = t$
 $I$   $s + 76 \text{ mm (3 in.) or } \frac{dn}{2}$

$f$
 $s$  = the permissible stress for the material of the shell at the working metal temperature.

$f$
 $n$  = the permissible stress for the material of the standpipe or nozzle at the working metal temperature.

In cases where 'Y' is less than 'X' a compensating plate shall be fitted to the shell at the standpipe and secured by fillet welds as in Figure 25-B.

The area of cross section of this compensation plate shall be governed by the ratio between the permissible stress at the working metal temperature for the materials of the shell and the compensating plate.

(b) Standpipes and nozzles welded to dished end plates.—Where the standpipes or nozzles are welded to dished end plates, the compensation shall be considered adequate if calculated on the same basis as in (a) above. But the cross sectional area of the end plate to be compensated shall be calculated on the basis of equation 74 and the height of standpipe above the outer surface or within the inner surface of the end plate shall be measured along the radial line passing through the centre of the opening.

(c) Minimum thickness of flanges.—The minimum thickness of the flanges and the body of standpipes shall be in accordance with the table under Regulation 156".
